What Table 1 tells us → As of 30 September 2026, total humanitarian funding reported to FTS reached US$21.98 billion, a 36.6 per cent increase on the US$16.09 billion recorded at the same point in 2025, although still 2.3 per cent below the 2024 level of US$22.49 billion. Funding inside the GHO rose by 53.1 per cent year-on-year to US$14.64 billion, while funding outside the GHO reached US$7.34 billion – the highest of the three years – and accounted for 33.4 per cent of total funding (40.6 per cent in 2025 and 27.9 per cent in 2024). At the same time, GHO requirements fell to US$35.07 billion, 22.7 per cent lower than in 2025 and 29.1 per cent lower than in 2024. The combination of higher funding and lower requirements lifted GHO coverage to 41.8 per cent, almost double the 21.1 per cent recorded in 2025 and well above the 32.8 per cent of 2024; the GHO funding gap nonetheless stands at US$20.43 billion. Against the Prioritized GHO, US$13.77 billion has been received towards requirements of US$24.94 billion, bringing prioritized coverage to 55.2 per cent and leaving a gap of US$11.18 billion.

[1] Tracking of the prioritised GHO began in February 2026 and is available through the Financial Tracker of the 2026 Prioritized GHO. As a result, data prior to this date are not available.

What Table 2 tells us → The top 20 donors contributed US$20.42 billion, or 92.9 per cent of total funding in 2026, compared with 93.9 per cent in 2024 and 91.4 per cent in 2025, confirming that humanitarian funding remains highly concentrated among a small group of donors. The United States has returned to the top position with US$7.18 billion (32.7 per cent of total funding), more than three times its contribution at the same point in 2025 (US$2.04 billion), though still below its 2024 level of US$8.68 billion. The European Commission/ECHO ranks second with US$2.74 billion, in line with 2025 and slightly above the 2024 figures, and the United Arab Emirates rises to third with US$1.76 billion, significantly up from US$445.74 million in 2025 and the US$ i351.6 million in 2024.,. Together, the top three donors account for 53.1 per cent of all funding reported in 2026. Sweden, Switzerland, Norway and the Netherlands all increased their contributions compared with 2025, with Switzerland (US$779.4 million) more than doubling its funding, while funding from Japan, Germany, Canada, Denmark and Qatar declined and Saudi Arabia's contribution fell from US$871.35 million in 2025 to US$219.9 million 2026. Ireland, Belgium, Australia and Finland are among the top 20 donors in 2026, having been absent from the 2025 list. Overall, 36.2 per cent of the top 20 donors' funding was channeled outside the GHO More than 70 per cent of UAE's contribution sits outside the GHO

What Table 3 tells us → The Middle East and North Africa remains the most funded region, receiving US$5.78 billion (26.3 per cent of total funding), a 40.4 per cent increase on 2025 and slightly above its 2024 level; just over one third of this (US$1.99 billion) was provided outside the GHO, the largest outside-GHO amount of any region and namely due to UAE funding Southern and Eastern Africa follows with US$3.77 billion, up 22.1 per cent year-on-year, and West and Central Africa with US$2.72 billion, up 49.3 per cent, with 89.7 per cent of its funding inside the GHO. Europe (US$2.09 billion) has moved ahead of Asia and the Pacific (US$1.98 billion) to rank fourth, after a 69.3 per cent increase from its 2025 numbers. The strongest relative growth was in Latin America and the Caribbean, where funding almost tripled from US$630.74 million to US$1.80 billion, exceeding its 2024 level- mainly due to US funding to pooled funds in that region. All six regions recorded higher funding than at the same point in 2025 and together account for US$18.14 billion, or 82.5 per cent of total humanitarian funding. The remaining funding is mainly for HQ support.

What Table 6 tells us → Overall GHO coverage stands at 41.8 per cent (US$14.64 billion against US$35.07 billion), while coverage of the Prioritized GHO stands at 55.2 per cent (US$13.77 billion against US$24.94 billion). The 20 HNRPs, requiring US$24.27 billion, are 40.3 per cent funded overall and 59.3 per cent funded against their prioritized requirements of US$15.36 billion. Ukraine (71.5 per cent) and Nigeria (69.8 per cent) are the best-funded HNRPs, whereas Niger (15.8 per cent), Burkina Faso (20.0 per cent), Yemen (21.7 per cent) and Mali (23.5 per cent) remain less than a quarter funded. Prioritization changes the picture markedly for some plans: Venezuela's prioritized requirements are fully funded, Afghanistan's are 98.3 per cent funded, and Niger's coverage rises from 15.8 per cent overall to 77.7 per cent against its prioritized requirements. By contrast, Yemen (29.2 per cent) and Cameroon (30.5 per cent) remain among the least funded plans even on a prioritized basis. The Escalation of Hostilities in the OPT Flash Appeal is the largest single appeal, with US$4.06 billion required and 39.9 per cent covered. Regional plans, requiring US$5.73 billion, are 23.5 per cent funded; the 3RP is only 13.0 per cent covered against requirements of US$2.80 billion. A further US$1.41 billion of GHO funding has been reported but not yet attributed to a specific plan.
